SINGULAR SOMNAMBULISM.

From the Detroit Free Press.] Friday last a resident of Division street, named Birch, received $890 in money, and it being too late to deposit it in the bank he placed it in a small tin box and deposited the tin box in a bureau drawer. He has a daughter about 15 years old he has a daughter about 15 years old who has a morbid terror of burglars, and the girl was very anxious for the safety of the money, fearing that some one would enter the house. So great was her anxiety that she could not go to sleep until after midnight. When the family arose Sunday morning Birch went to the drawer and found both box and money gone. He examined the doors and windows, but found them secured as he had dows, but found them secured as he had left them the previous night, and of course it was a great mystery how the money left the house. There were no money left the house. There were no callers the evening previous, the key of the drawer had been left lying on the stand in the bedroom, and was there when he got up, and the drawer was locked as he locked it. What might have been a vexatious case for the detectives was solved after breakfast without much trouble. The daughter, on getting up, found that a woolen rag and a piece of sailt pork, which she had bound around her sore throat the previous evening had fallen off, and disappeared as mysteriously as the cash box. The father heard her talking about it, and as he passed through a grapebox. The father heard her talking about it, and as he passed through a graperror in the rear of the house he saw the cloth and the ment on the ground. Bending over to pick them up, his foot sank down into soft ground, and he heard a rattling, which resulted in his pulling up the box safe and sound. While the girt could not, of course, remember anything about it, it is quite certain that her anxiety for the money led her to rise in her sleep, secure the ied her to rise in her sleep, accure the box, unlock the door, and go and bury it in the arbor. A post had been pulled up in one corner of the arbor, loosening the soil, and she had selected this spot. Her fingers were found to be soiled with dirt, and there were dirt marks on the pillow-slip where she had placed her hand. Then the woolen which had dropped from her neck was still further proof of her somnambulism. She was as much surprised as any one, and but for the accident, as it may be termed, which led Berch into the arbor he might have been bewailing the loss of his mon-ey a year hence. He claims to be a light siceper, and yet the daughter had taken the key from the stand near his head, anlocked the drawer, unlocked the back door, drawn the bolt of the woodshed door, passed out, returned and locked everything, and replaced the bureau key.

and yet neither the man nor wife was awakened, and the sleeper had encount-sted nothing to break the midnight dream which led her to leave her bed. A SHOWER OF PERRIES AT SEA. - The steamer New York, Captain Winchester, when eight miles from land, thirty-three miles east of Portland, on her trip from Boston last Friday night, between 7 and 8 o'clock, was visited by a shower of pebbles that fell like hailstones. The watch on deck, who was trimming his light at the time, supposed that some of the crew were pelting him. The whole of them fell abart the paddle-boxes. In the morning he swept them up and three all but one handful overboard, much to the regret of all on board, as some of them were very handsome. In the opinion of an eminent geologist the stones HARDWARE, were taken up by a whirlwind from some fresh water brook. It will be remembered that the sky presented a very singular appearance that evening. The wind at the time, to use a queer expression, blew from all quarters. The stones saved were all about one size, and present the worn appearance of pubbles on the bottom of a fresh water brook, and will sead had a nature such base of the proper statement of the proper stateme tom of a fresh water brook, and will weigh about half an ounce each.—Boston Traveler, July 16th.

WE ARE NOW PREPARED TO CONtract for Air Pipe, Blowers, Furnace Pipe, Lift Pumps, &c., of any required size and results.

HATE OF DIFFERENT RACES. - Some body who has been studying the matter of the form and substance of the human bair in different races, finds that the bair of the North American Indian is cylin drival, that of the white race is oval, and that of the negro may be termed ellipti-cal. It is also found that when the hair is cylindrical the stretching and shrink-ing powers are equal on all sides of the filament, and this condition gives it the lank, straight appearance of that of the pure-blood Indian. The oval hair dis-plays a greater number of fibres upon the flattened side than elsewhere—a condition which gives to such hair a ten-dency to curl or curve in that direction. When eccentrically elliptical it not only always curls, but often assumes a spira shape, as on the head of the negro. The hair of the Chinese is nearly cylindrical, and hence it is that curled hair is almost unknown among that people.

A coop story is told of one of Virtue's canyassers in London. He found his way into the parlor of a branch bank, and saw the manager, who, as soon as he learned his business, ordered him out. Very quietly he said, "I meet with so many gentlemen in the course of the week that I can afford to meet a snut occasionally," and walked out. Next day he called at the hank again, and occasionally," and walked out. Next day he called at the bank again, and wished to open an account. He was again shown in to the manager, and gave again shown in to the manager, and gave satisfactory reasons for opening an account, and deposited £270. The manager could not do less than apologize for his rudeness on the day preceding, and ordered a copy of the work, an expensive Bible, and allowed access to the clerks, several of whom did the same. Two days afterward every farthing was drawn out.—[London Boookseller.
